

HOSPITALITY AND TOURISM

Hospitality and tourism is one of the top fields for employment in Canada. Hospitality and tourism courses prepare students to meet diverse challenges in this multifaceted field.

Hospitality and tourism education provides both a hands-on and a theoretical approach to learning about the various sectors in the field. Students will have opportunities to develop essential food preparation and presentation skills; will learn about event planning and marketing, customer relations, human resource management, inventory management, and tourism administration and management; and will examine the cultural and economic forces that drive tourism trends. Students will gain experience with equipment and procedures commonly used in their particular sectors of interest, and will comply with health and safety regulations and standards that govern the various sectors in the tourism industry. They will acquire a foundation of skills and knowledge that will prepare them for both postsecondary education and careers in hospitality and tourism.

The list of approved emphasis areas for hospitality and tourism can be found at www.edu.gov.on.ca/eng/curriculum/secondary/teched.html.

- Courses in technological education are suitable for use in cooperative education programs and in connection with other forms of experiential learning as well as in programs such as the Specialist High Skills Major (SHSM). For more information, see pages 43–44 of this document.
- For policy guidelines pertaining to multiple-credit courses and emphasis courses, see pages 17–18 of this document.

Hospitality and Tourism, Grade 12

Workplace Preparation

TFJ4E

This course enables students to further develop knowledge and skills related to the food and beverage services sector of the tourism industry. Students will demonstrate proficiency in using food preparation and presentation tools and equipment; plan nutritious menus, create recipes, and prepare and present finished food products; develop customer service skills; and explore event and activity planning. Students will expand their awareness of health and safety practices, environmental and societal issues, and career opportunities in the food and beverage services sector.

Prerequisite: Hospitality and Tourism, Grade 11, Workplace Preparation

A. HOSPITALITY AND TOURISM FUNDAMENTALS

OVERALL EXPECTATIONS

By the end of this course, students will:

- A1. demonstrate an understanding of factors that affect the tourism industry in general and the food and beverage services sector specifically;
- A2. explain the importance and value of a well-balanced and nutritious meal plan;
- A3. handle and store foods in compliance with the Health Protection and Promotion Act (HPPA);
- A4. demonstrate an understanding of various types of facilities and equipment used in the food and beverage services sector of the tourism industry.

SPECIFIC EXPECTATIONS

A1. Factors Affecting the Tourism Industry

By the end of this course, students will:

- A1.1 identify and describe factors that contribute to the growth of the tourism industry (e.g., development and improvement of tourist facilities, technological advances such as Internet reservation systems, favourable exchange rates, an increase in disposable income, the expansion of a middle class in developing countries, the promotion of international festivals and sporting events);
- A1.2 describe how tourist attractions benefit the local and/or provincial food and beverage services sector (e.g., areas close to museums, theatres, and scenic attractions are good locations for restaurants, cafés, and bars);
- A1.3 describe important considerations for food and beverage servers when delivering room service professionally to guests in hotels and other lodging properties (e.g., food and/or beverages are at the appropriate temperature; delivery is timely; presentation of food and/or beverages is appropriate);
- A1.4 identify and describe factors that contribute to the success of businesses in the food and beverage services sector (e.g., attractive or convenient location, good-quality products at competitive prices, prompt and attentive service, relaxing atmosphere).

A2. Planning Nutritious Meals

By the end of this course, students will:

- A2.1 describe the essential principles of nutrition as referenced in Canada's Food Guide and accompanying resources (e.g., Eating Well with Canada's Food Guide [2007]; Eating Well with Canada's Food Guide: First Nations, Inuit and Métis; cultural adaptations of Canada's Food Guide available from the Ontario Public Health Association);
- A2.2 identify various food products and cuisines from around the world and assess the nutritional value of various popular dishes using appropriate resources (e.g., Eating Well with Canada's Food Guide [2007]; Eating Well with Canada's Food Guide: First Nations, Inuit and Métis; cultural adaptations of Canada's Food Guide available from the Ontario Public Health Association);
- A2.3 describe the effect of food-processing techniques (e.g., freezing, pickling, grinding, thawing) on the nutritional value of food;
- A2.4 identify the differences (e.g., with respect to yield, nutrition, freshness, taste) between locally grown and/or organically grown fruits and vegetables and those grown using traditional cultivation techniques (e.g., use of fertilizer and pesticides) and/or harvested unripe and transported long distances;

A2.5 identify ways in which lifestyle, health, and age affect a person's dietary and nutritional needs (e.g., lifestyle: people who are not physically active need fewer calories than those who exercise regularly; health: diabetics require a diet that is low in sugar and carbohydrates to keep their blood-sugar level in balance; age: women as they age require calcium supplements to combat osteoporosis);

A2.6 create a meal plan that incorporates the essential principles of nutrition and explain how it provides a nutritious, well-balanced diet;

A2.7 explain why dietary supplements are added in the production of various foods (e.g., to supply nutrients [vitamins, minerals, fatty acids, amino acids] that are missing from or not consumed in sufficient quantities in a person's diet).

A3. Food Handling and Storage

By the end of this course, students will:

A3.1 demonstrate the use of safe food handling and proper sanitation practices (e.g., prevent cross-contamination of foods, keep their person and uniform clean, wear hair nets, observe good housekeeping practices);

A3.2 apply provincial standards for safe food handling when preparing food (e.g., wear gloves, use different-coloured cutting boards for different foods);

A3.3 demonstrate professional food storage practices (e.g., label containers; apply the "first in, first out" method when selecting food products for use);

A3.4 demonstrate effective management of resources and inventory (e.g., in terms of portion control, waste management, and energy conservation);

A3.5 identify the causes of food-borne illnesses (e.g., salmonella, Norwalk virus, E. coli), the associated medical symptoms (e.g., nausea, stomach cramps, fever), and methods of prevention (e.g., store, handle, and cook food appropriately).

A4. Facilities and Equipment

By the end of this course, students will:

A4.1 identify the characteristics of various types of facilities (e.g., health spa, hotel, resort, bed and breakfast operation, country club) that include food and beverage services as part of the services they provide;

A4.2 describe ways in which the food and beverage services sector can take advantage of community facilities to host an activity or event (e.g., catering a banquet at the local arena, holding receptions at a community centre);

A4.3 list the main types of equipment needed to operate different types of food service operations (e.g., quick-service outlet, diner, restaurant, banquet hall);

A4.4 describe how various types of equipment are used in the food and beverage services sector (e.g., barbecues for grilling food outdoors, insulated carriers for transporting frozen food, chafing dishes for keeping food warm at a buffet).

B. HOSPITALITY AND TOURISM SKILLS

OVERALL EXPECTATIONS

By the end of this course, students will:

- B1. demonstrate technical proficiency in the use and maintenance of tools and equipment related to the food and beverage services sector of the tourism industry;
- B2. plan and prepare menus, demonstrating a level of competence in food handling, preparation, and presentation that meets professional standards;
- B3. demonstrate an understanding of appropriate procedures to follow in the planning and delivery of an event or activity.

SPECIFIC EXPECTATIONS

B1. Using Tools and Equipment

By the end of this course, students will:

- B1.1 demonstrate proficiency when using a variety of tools and equipment related to the food and beverage services sector (e.g., electric mixers, ovens, knives);
- B1.2 use a variety of measuring tools to accurately determine, in metric, US customary, or British imperial units as appropriate, the weight and/or volume of ingredients for meal preparation and, in degrees Celsius or Fahrenheit, the cooking temperature required;
- B1.3 maintain tools and equipment related to the food and beverage services sector in a professional manner (e.g., keep knives sharp, keep workstations clean and organized, store tools properly).

B2. Food Preparation and Presentation

By the end of this course, students will:

- B2.1 apply Health Protection and Promotion Act (HPPA) standards in handling, storing, and preparing food products (e.g., cook and/or store food at the proper temperature; apply the “first in, first out” [FIFO] method in selecting ingredients);
- B2.2 perform accurate conversions and calculations of yield (i.e., the number of persons who can be served) for various types of recipes, using metric, US customary, or British imperial units as appropriate;
- B2.3 perform accurate calculations of yield as it relates to “as raw product purchased” and

“edible portion”, and explain how the relationship between the two calculations affects cost and profitability;

- B2.4 prepare a variety of food products (e.g., appetizer, main course, dessert, hot and cold beverages) according to recipe specifications;
- B2.5 prepare a variety of international recipes in accordance with the culinary traditions of various cultures (e.g., Aboriginal, Thai, French, Italian);
- B2.6 prepare complex recipes accurately using readily available ingredients;
- B2.7 present food products appropriately for a variety of purposes (e.g., buffet, à la carte);
- B2.8 set a table in a professional and creative manner (e.g., paying attention to the choice and arrangement of utensils and glassware, the design of the centrepiece, the way napkins are folded) to suit the circumstances (e.g., fine dining, wedding, banquet);
- B2.9 demonstrate the use of professional waiting techniques when serving beverages (e.g., taking and delivering orders, providing tea and coffee service, serving and clearing from the right).

B3. Planning and Delivering an Event or Activity

By the end of this course, students will:

- B3.1 create an action plan for an event or activity and outline the designated role of each participant in the staging of the event or activity;

B3.2 design, plan, and promote an activity or fundraiser, individually or as part of a team, using a variety of software applications;

B3.3 coordinate and stage an event or activity individually or as part of a team;

B3.4 use teamwork and organizational skills to complete a variety of tasks in the coordination and/or staging of an event or activity;

B3.5 analyse the success of an event or activity in relation to its action plan (e.g., have a formal debriefing using a plus/delta format).

C. INDUSTRY PRACTICES, THE ENVIRONMENT, AND SOCIETY

OVERALL EXPECTATIONS

By the end of this course, students will:

- C1. demonstrate an understanding of how various practices connected with the tourism industry in general and the food and beverage services sector specifically affect the environment, and how these effects can be reduced;
- C2. demonstrate an understanding of ways in which various practices connected with the tourism industry in general and the food and beverage services sector specifically affect society.

SPECIFIC EXPECTATIONS

C1. Industry Practices and the Environment

By the end of this course, students will:

- C1.1 identify the effects that the tourism industry has on the environment (e.g., undeveloped areas exploited for commercial gain, environmentally sensitive areas affected by pollution and waste disposal, infrastructure expanded and upgraded, areas of natural beauty preserved as tourist attractions);
- C1.2 describe how the food and beverage services sector can both protect the environment and encourage the sustainable use of natural resources (e.g., by choosing new locations on or near existing infrastructure to reduce the need for new infrastructure, providing guests with the option not to have linens washed daily, composting organic waste from restaurants, reusing cooking oil as a biofuel, using locally grown produce to reduce the need for long-distance transportation);
- C1.3 identify, through research, an appropriate code of ethics and/or guidelines for sustainable tourism and describe how they could be applied to the operation of local food and beverage services facilities;
- C1.4 identify ways in which the food and beverage services sector could offset its impact on the environment (e.g., develop or support a tree planting program, develop or contribute to a carbon offset fund).

C2. Industry Practices and Society

By the end of this course, students will:

- C2.1 explain the importance of the tourism industry at the local level (e.g., tourism can support local economies, create local jobs, preserve local culture, and/or provide funds for infrastructure development and social and recreational programs);
- C2.2 explain how food and beverage services facilities benefit the local job market (e.g., by creating a range of entry-level jobs, providing experiential learning opportunities in hospitality and tourism-related businesses, having a ripple effect on other areas of the job market);
- C2.3 describe how tourism can affect the culture of a society (e.g., tourist attitudes and behaviour can over time erode local customs and traditions and/or cause resentment among the local population).

D. PROFESSIONAL PRACTICE AND CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

OVERALL EXPECTATIONS

By the end of this course, students will:

- D1. demonstrate an understanding of and compliance with health and safety legislation and regulations and the practices that are essential for a safe and healthy work environment;
- D2. demonstrate an understanding of strategies and techniques that provide a positive customer service experience;
- D3. describe the range of career opportunities and the education and training required for employment in the food and beverage services sector of the tourism industry.

SPECIFIC EXPECTATIONS

D1. Health and Safety

By the end of this course, students will:

- D1.1 describe the laws, regulations, and regulatory/oversight organizations that govern health, safety, sanitation, and workers' rights in the food and beverage services sector of the tourism industry (e.g., Health Protection and Promotion Act [HPPA], Occupational Health and Safety Act [OHSA], Workplace Hazardous Materials Information System [WHMIS] regulations, Workplace Safety and Insurance Board [WSIB], local health departments);
- D1.2 identify and describe health and safety issues that must be considered in workplaces in the food and beverage services sector (e.g., issues concerning trip and fall, exposure to chemicals, the effects of fatigue, and workplace ergonomics), and explain how these issues affect working conditions;
- D1.3 identify ways of meeting health and safety requirements and recommendations (e.g., concerning public safety) in various settings of the food and beverage services sector (e.g., carry out food inspections; have an emergency preparedness fire/evacuation plan; maintain a clean, hygienic facility; provide separate washrooms for staff and customers; observe municipal by-laws);
- D1.4 demonstrate the ability to follow health and safety best practices (e.g., report unsafe working conditions in the school classroom/facility; use WHMIS data sheets and understand WHMIS safety cautions; know appropriate first aid); procedures to be used in the event of an accident such as a burn, cut, or electric shock);

- D1.5 use protective clothing and equipment as required to ensure their own and others' safety in the work environment.

D2. Customer Service

By the end of this course, students will:

- D2.1 apply intrapersonal and interpersonal skills to provide a professional level of customer service;
- D2.2 outline the benefits of providing a positive customer experience (e.g., reputation of the business enhanced, customer base maintained or expanded, viability of the business increased);
- D2.3 explain the need for sensitivity in responding to client needs (e.g., explain why knowledge of and respect for various cultures, religions, and people with disabilities are important in providing customer service);
- D2.4 assess various strategies used by companies to retain and grow their customer base (e.g., providing a unique environment or service, offering customers a points-accumulation system and/or prizes, holding customer appreciation days);
- D2.5 demonstrate an understanding of the use of ethical standards in customer service (e.g., standards relating to privacy, confidentiality, and business ethics).
